Subject: Is that a no?

Hi,

I emailed you previously asking if you were still in business but have not received a response yet.

Email is below...

Subject: Your business is listed as unclaimed

I came across your listing online yesterday and noticed you’re listed as “unclaimed,” were you aware of this?

Get in touch with me to resolve this as you’re missing out on a lot of business.

Subject: Can you handle more customers?

I'm reaching out again, because I've still not heard back from you. Your Yelp listing is listed as unclaimed, so customers think you're no longer in business!

This is an easy fix... I'll help you out with it.

Subject: Final notice

I've sent you a few emails about your Yelp listing being unclaimed.

If you don't claim it your customers might think that you're not in business.

You also will be unable to respond to bad reviews, which means customers might think you don't care about them.

Most importantly you're losing out on getting more customers.

Can I please help you fix this?
